Monitoring and support

- Take doses after the morning and evening meals exactly as prescribed.
- Do not double a dose for a missed or vomited dose; follow your oncology/pharmacy instructions.
- Blood counts are particularly important because neutropenia can be significant.
- Your current medicines, including non-prescription products.
- A note of new symptoms, when they started and what they stopped you doing.
- Any temperature, blood-pressure or bowel-count readings your team asked you to record.
- Questions about the purpose of treatment, scan/review timing or changes to the plan.

05 / when to call Do not wait for the next appointment Use your oncology SOS instructions Call oncology urgently for fever, shivers, sudden illness, uncontrolled vomiting, persistent diarrhoea, bleeding, inability to drink or marked weakness. Severe breathing difficulty, collapse or severe chest pain: call 112/999. If your team has given you different local thresholds or emergency instructions, follow those instructions.
